

BAKER AND MARCH WILL MAKE INSPECTION TRIP

Will Spend Three Weeks Going Over Camps They Were Unable to Visit During War.

WILL BE LONGER IN SERVICE

Failure of Congress to Pass Army Bill Will Hold Number of War-Time Army Men for Unnecessarily Extended Period.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, March 4.—Secretary Baker and General March, accompanied by General March, chief of staff, for an inspection trip at will take him to the Pacific Coast of the Mexican border.
The object of the trip, which will occupy about three weeks, is to permit the secretary and General March to visit camps which, during the war, were unable to inspect.
The tentative itinerary will take them to Camp Custer, Michigan; Edge, Iowa; Funston, Kansas; Lewis, Washington; Kearny, California; Fort Bliss and Fort Worth and Camp Bowie, Texas; Camp Pike, Arkansas; and Camp Zachary Taylor, Kentucky.
Failure of the army appropriation bill and other military measures to pass before Congress adjourns leaves a war department in a "difficult" not a serious situation. Secretary Baker said today. No immediate orders of funds to care for the troops in prospect.
Mr. Baker said his greatest regret is that failure of the army reorganization bill meant that a number of men of the war-time army must remain in the service for a longer time than would have been necessary otherwise.

CONGRESS HELD IN FILIBUSTER'S GRIP UNTIL END

Half an hour before adjournment President Wilson, who with his cabinet, was in the Executive's private room, of the Senate chamber, signed the $1,000,000,000 appropriation measure.

There was no further action in the Senate on the resolution offered last night by Republican Leader Lodge, and signed by thirty-eight Republican members of the next Senate, opposing the measure of nations in its present form. The House resolution urging the American peace delegates to make an effort for final Irish independence also died in the Senate.

Failure of the $750,000,000 railroad appropriation also carried with it other appropriations in the general deficiency bill, aggregating $2,000,000 distributed among many government departments and including $30,000,000 for purchase and requisition of ships by the Shipping Board.

Death of the railroad measure and conference between the President with congressional leaders today brought forth no definite sign of the President's plan of dealing with the measure, although many Senate leaders advised the President to return the measure immediately to private ownership.

In declining to make a statement to the session just closed Republican leader Lodge said: "It speaks for itself."

GREAT CROWDS THROUG CAPITOL ALL MONDAY
Great crowds thronged the Capitol as the session neared its close. The Senate adjourned at a special attraction owing to the filibuster.

A number of Senators-elect, who will take their seats at the next session, were present among them being Truman H. Newberry, of Michigan, Davis E. Ekins, of West Virginia, and Governor Stanley of Kentucky.

Senator Lewis endeavored near noon to introduce another amendment, expressing the wish of the Senate that the President should have a safe journey and safe return and providing that "the Senate earnestly approves all proper efforts of the President to effect a league of peace that can bring an arrangement guaranteeing the tranquility of nations and the mutual friendship of the world."

After being read, Vice-President Marshall ruled it out of order.

Over in the Senate, a veteran congressional employee said, had there been such a complete tie-up of business by a filibuster, which blocked even the usual and customary affairs, such as resolutions and other exchanges of courtesy to and from retiring officials.

MEASURES ARE LOST
The long list of measures that failed included all reconstruction legislation, including the bill to reorganize the post office, and the bill defining a shipping policy and dealing with unemployment, labor and industry problems; the oil, gas and coal land leasing and water power development bills; the bill to give the Federal Reserve Bank authority to enforce war-time prohibition; meat industry legislation; immigration exclusion and alien deportation bills; and the bill to give government control of telegraph, telephone and other wire utilities.

The scene in the House was quite different from that in the Senate when the speaker's gavel fell. As Speaker Clark announced the end of the sixtieth Congress the Marine Band played the national anthem and members of the House crowded galleries joined in the singing.

In the east gallery, Mrs. J. Charles Linthicum, of Baltimore, wife of Representative Linthicum, of Maryland, unfurled a large American flag and waved it above the floor of the House.

MAN OFFERS RESOLUTION
The last act of the House was the unanimous passage of a resolution offered by Republican Leader Mann, thanking Speaker Clark for his "able and impartial work as Speaker."

"No matter what its critics may say," declared Mr. Clark in response, "this Congress has done more important work than any other two Congresses. In this Congress the Republicans acted as patriots and as faithfully as the Democrats. I cannot express my gratitude for the way the House has treated me. Good-by and God bless you."

Merry-making continued for an hour and a half after the formal adjournment. After patriotic and popular songs had been sung by members and the spectators in the galleries, a contest was held between the Republican and Democratic members to see which side of the House could sing best "Keep the Home Fires Burning."

The Democrats sang the first verse of the song and were vigorously applauded. Led by Miss Jeannette Rankin, the Republicans sang the second verse so well that it was called a draw.

IRISH MEMBERS DEMAND "WEARING OF THE GREEN"
To celebrate the passage by the House of the resolution which failed in the Senate, requesting the American delegates at the peace conference to urge for the independence of Ireland, Irish members of the House demanded "The Wearing of the Green."

Representative Gullivan, of Massachusetts, and Representative Donohue, of New Jersey, sang verses and were repeatedly cheered. Early in the day the House had voted, 216 to 41, to adopt the resolution expressing the hope that the peace conference would "favorably consider the claims of Ireland to the right of self-determination."

Miss Levering Jones, Philadelphia, was called from the gallery to the Speaker's stand to sing several solos. Members of the press gallery were called upon to sing "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," and Albert J. Stoffer, dean of the correspondents, sang "The Watermelon Bird."

In closing, the members and the galleries, at the request of former Speaker Cannon, joined in singing "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

Of the fourteen regular annual appropriation bills, all were passed by the House, including the general deficiency measure carrying $85,000,000, inclusive of the railroad administration item of $750,000,000. Of the executive and judicial, legislative, others, the post-office, legislative, executive and judicial, rivers and harbors, diplomatic and consular, military academy, fortifications and pension bills were enacted.

Appropriation bills which failed in the Senate were the army, navy, sundry civil, agricultural, Indian and district of Columbia bills, and the $100,000,000 bill for reclamation of lands to be allotted soldiers and sailors.

Measures on foreign affairs which failed included the House resolution containing the expression for Irish freedom, the $15,000,000 Colombian treaty, several commercial conventions and numerous resolutions on the league of nations, Russian policy and other subjects.

DIRECTOR-GENERAL HINES
DECLINES TO COMMENT
Director-General Hines, commenting today on the failure of Congress to pass the $750,000,000 appropriation for the railroad administration, said he had not come to any conclusion as to the government's future course in regard to the railroads.

Other administrative officials, however, were studying the War Finance Corporation act, with a view to determining whether that corporation has authority to make advances to the railroads and eliminate the necessity of premature relinquishment by the government.

Senator Smith, of South Carolina, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee, and Senator Overman, of North Carolina, were among those who went to the President's office and urged that since the Republicans had defeated the Senate resolution to return the railroads be returned to their owners forthwith.

Chairman Smith, of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, also advised the President to return immediately the railroads to private ownership. In view of the failure of the railroad appropriation bill, he told the President, he said, that the only course open was to relinquish control of the carriers. The President made no comment on Senator Smith's suggestion.

Because of the President's decision to return the railroads to private ownership, the extra session, crowded outgoing trains tonight featured Congress would not again assemble much before June 1. Leaders predicted then it would remain in continuous session until the 1920 political campaigns. During the recess business will be virtually suspended, except for resumption tomorrow of the warman committee's propaganda investigation and the meeting of the House Republican committee on committees.

With the ending of Congress scores of statements on the results of legislation and the league of nations were issued by members with Democrats and Republicans disputing responsibility for failure of important measures. Most Republican members urged the calling of an early extra session.

WILL CONTINUE LEAGUE OF NATIONS AGITATION
Despite the death of Congress, controversy over the league of nations constitution promises to be agitated continually by advocates and opponents. Prominent Democratic and Republican Congressmen already have speech-making itineraries planned, with Senators Borah, of Idaho, Republican, and Clark, of Nevada, Democrat.

"MOTHER KNOWS"
When I feel scrappy and mean, mother never scolds. She usually finds my tongue is white, my breath bad, then she says, "My Pet needs a Cascaret." I gladly take Cascarets because they taste like candy. Next morning I wake up feeling dandy. Do you give your children Cascarets or nasty castor oil, pills or calomel? Cascarets never hurt us kids.

SHOE CONSERVATION

W. H. Kelley, a lumber salesman, of Omaha, found Neolin Soles so tough and durable that one pair of soles served on a second pair of uppers after the first pair of uppers had worn out in ten months of hard walking.

And he says, "Those same soles will stand another ten months of constant daily wear."

This is unusual service even for Neolin Soles but Mr. Kelley's experience should indicate to you a method of cutting down those rising shoe bills you have to meet. Simply make sure the new shoes you buy are Neolin-soled and have worn shoes repaired with these soles which are scientifically made to be comfortable, waterproof and exceedingly long-wearing. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels, guaranteed to outwear any other heels.
